“I created this position because of John’s wide range of knowledge and experience,” stated Kim Kaplan. “We have had the pleasure to watch him grow and mature over the past 10 years, and his continued progression in the business is what awarded him this position.”

K-Ltd. business has enjoyed success in just ten years of existence, as the company has expanded with operations in Detroit, Chicago and Philadelphia specializing in hazardous and non-hazardous chemical materials product hauling.

John works out of K-Limited’s corporate offices and largest terminal facility in Toledo, Ohio, and will oversee the operations of the terminal managers in the other two offices in Chicago, Detroit and the satellite Philadelphia terminal.

“No limit on safety,” is K-Limited’s company motto and what they strive to provide their clients and employees each day, which is why Mr. Spurling will continue to oversee the safety program.

“John is very likeable and proactive, he is always willing to roll up his sleeves and get the job done.” Stated Dean Kaplan, Co-owner and Chief Executive Officer of K-Limited. “John has been full circle in this business, he understands this entire position and is always willing to learn more, the drivers are his number one concern.”

Now that Kim and Dean Kaplan have passed on some of their daily duties to John, they will be able to focus on more presidential duties, decision making processes and strategic planning. “We have such a great infrastructure of senior mangers and embrace what we have and look forward to grow.”

As the largest woman-owned bulk trucking company in the nation, K-Limited Carrier has developed a well-deserved reputation for reliable, dependable service as well as an outstanding safety record. Firm headquarters are located in north Toledo at 131 Matzinger Road. Kim and Dean Kaplan reside in Sylvania, Ohio.
